Session D1: Telling Our Story Through Evaluation

- Ethleen Iron Cloud-Two Dogs, Tribal Law and Policy Institute
- Marneena Evans, Westat

Workshop Description: Participants will be provided with an example of an evaluation process from data collection through data analysis and an example of how to present the evaluation findings to the community.

Session Resources:

- Tribal Youth Programs Evaluation Readiness Checklist
This checklist can be helpful to gauge where the organization/program is at in preparing for evaluation.
- Sample Cultural Identity Survey
This tool focuses on gathering information from participants about their interest in cultural identity building information.
- Evaluation Action + Data Collection Plan Templates
These two resources are templates to help guide action planning for evaluation and data collection.
- Logic Model Templates
These are three examples of a logic model that can help lay out program's goals, objectives, and outcomes in a one-page depiction.
- Sample Data Collection
This resource is an adaptable tool and serves as a sample of how to organize and collect information on youth program participants.
